THE SALT LAKE HERALD.

Weather Today.

Forecast for Salt Lake Today is: Fair, slight changes in temperature, ESTABLISHED JUNE 5, 1870.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH: THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1901

NUMBER 231

EVERY REPUBLICAN VOTED FOR MILLIONAIRE KEARNS

But Many Members Wanted to Explain Why They Did It.

- Silver King Man Receives Thirty-Seven Votes, Makes a Speech and Is Given His Certificate.

in the joint session of the legislature, this man, who has been termed a "graduate from the dinner bucket brigade," received every Republican vote in the legislature.

Some there were who voted for him as a small boy takes castor oil. His name was spoken almost with a hiss in many instances, but the result, for all practical purposes, was the same, and

What Hit Me?

WILL BE BUILT

Decision Reached by Short Line Officials.

ROAD WILL OPEN UP RICH FIELD IN IDAHO

Will Cost $1,000,000 and Be Built at Once.

(Special to The Herald.)

New York, Jan. 23.—A high official of the Oregon Short Line and Union Pacific Rallroad companies announced today that the directorate of the former tain officials of the Mormon church to had reached a conclusion to build the branch in Idaho known as the "Custer line," and that work would begin on it at an early date. This road will run vocable report on the project submitficials at Salt Lake within the past were seen in regard to the above dispatch last night declined to affirm or on No. 3 last night.

RAWLINS DENOUNCES ELECTION OF KEARNS

Declares in Senate That the Mormon Church Entered Into a Deal Productive of Infamy.

Hale and Chandler kise to Protest Against Any Action Being Taken at Present Time.

poses Action.

Poses Action

Poses Action*

EDWARD VII FORMALLY ASCENDS THE THRONE

Takes the Oath of a Sovereign and Privy Council and Parliament Swear Their Allegiance.

Accession Speech is Delivered With Deep Emotion-McKinley's Letter of Condolence is First to Arrive.

KING EDWARD VII SAYS HE WILL TRY TO WALK IN HIS MOTHER'S FOOTSTEPS

London, Jan. 23 .- Following is the full text of King Edward VII's eech of accession to the throne:
"Your Royal Highness, Lords and Gentlemen:

"This is the most painful occasion on which I shall ever be called upon to address you. My first and melancholy duty is to announce to you the death of my beloved mother, the queen, and I know how deeply you and the whole nation and, I think I may say, the whole world, sympathize with me in the irreparable loss we have all sustained.

fully determined to be a constitutional sovereign in the strictest sense of the word, and so long as there is a breath in my body, to work for the

"I have resolved to be known by the name of Edward, which has been borne by six of my ancestors. In doing so I do not undervalue the name of Albert, which I inherit from my ever-to-be-lamented, the great and wise father, who by universal consent, is, I think, deservedly in the ardnous duties which now devolve upon me by inheritance, and to which I am determined to devote my whole strength during the remain entered the capital of the British empire and at the meeting of the privy council took the title of Edward VI

The house of lords and the house of commons assembled at 4 o'clock and took the oath of allegiance to the new Dense crowds, beginning at St. James street, lined the entire route to Victoria station from an early hour until the Mail and the front of Buckingham palace were especially thronged.

All along the former place to Mariborough house carriages filled with women stood as if for a drawing room, except that the coachmen, footmen and occupants were all dressed in mourning. The police precautions were unusual. Men' on foot and mounted guarded almost every yard of the way. The crowds waited patiently for hours to greet their king.

King Bows to Salutes.

Finally, precided by half a dozen mounted policemen, the new sovereign arrived in a plain brougham, which was driven very rapidly, with the coachman and footman in their usual gray liveries with mourning bands on their arms. Victoria station from an early hour un- an

Mr. Hale insisted that there would be the controversy invited by Alt.

Mr. Hale insisted that there would be the controversy invited by Alt.

Mr. Hale insisted that there would be the controversy invited by Alt.

Mr. Hale insisted that there would be the controversy invited by Alt.

Mr. Hale insisted that the research and the property of the seast and the property of the controversy invited by Alt.

Mr. Hale would be limited to the seast again.

WILL BE NEUTRAL

IN VENEZUELL

Washington, Jan. 22—The state dearments has decided to maintain an attitude of exact neutrality as between the run that state the seast and the seast of the seast that it should inquire into other than the control of the London Jan. 24.—Edward VII form and the ribbon of the Order was proclaimed king of Great Britain and emperor of India-in St. James' palace at 9 o'clock this morning.

Representative Stuart, leading man Co.," presenting "The Man Who."

co.," presenting "The Man Who."

dent Evans didn't know what rules the house had on the subject. Speaker Glasmann whispered to him that applause was permitted in the house, but the president overruled the speaker, saying that the house proceeded under Roberts' rules and that those rules forbade demonstrations.

Thereafter the stillness was most pronounced. Nobody applauded even the announcement of the vote, although some laughter was indulged in at times over the labored explanations some of the anti-Kearns men gave for voting for him. The roil call was not marked by any long speeches. Senator Allison bit his under lip hard as he cast his vote for Kearns, but he said nothing.

The joint assembly was called to or-oting he said:

"Mr. President: In arising to andounce my vote for the office of United thates senator (for the candidate for hat office). I will say I am one of a respectable minority, divided eighteen time share felt.

Senator Kearns Thanks the Legislature.

Action Resona.

Action Reson

(Continued on page 6.)